Mesa County
LIBRARIES

The library has a WEST ENTRANCE/ EXIT.

And an EAST EXIT only.

This table is at the entrance of the library.
Sometimes someone will say hello to me when I come in.

Most patrons will wear face masks.

This is where I can return anything I borrowed from the library. Arrows show me which way to walk and to wait for my turn.

This is how I know someone works or volunteers at the library. They are always available for help.

If I want to check out materials, someone in my family or me needs to have a library card. They might look like this:

I can use the displays and shelves to help me find new materials for checkout.

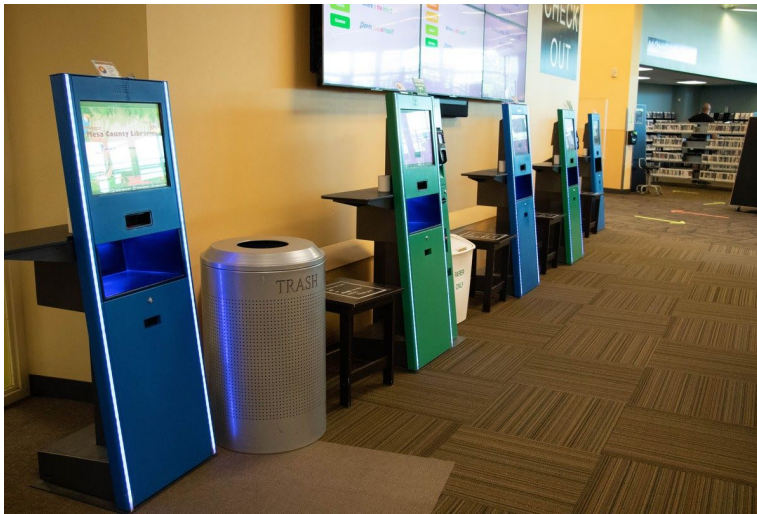

I must always respect library materials.

This is how I can find a bathroom to use.

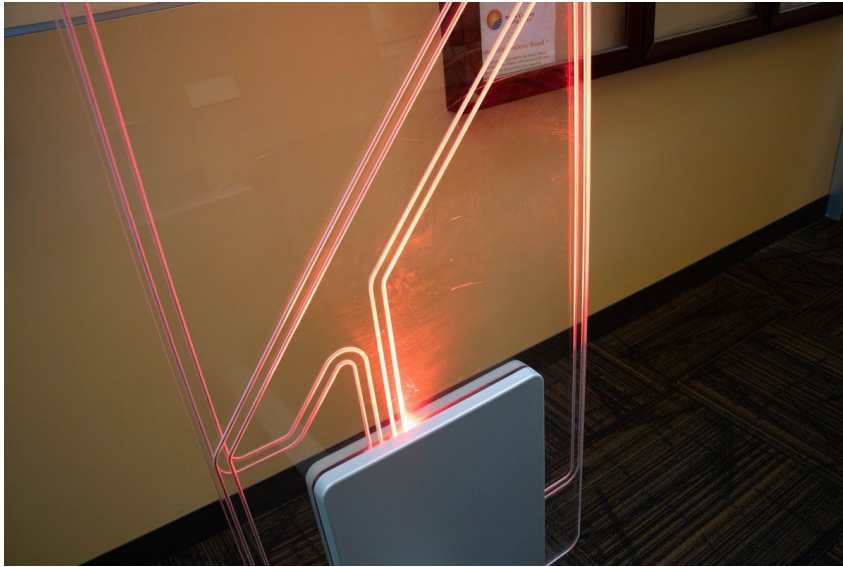

I can use a self-check kiosk to check-out materials myself, or I can follow the signs and arrows to check-out materials at the front desk.

Signs will show me how to find the library exit.

These are the security gates. Sometimes these gates beep. If that happens, I just have to check with the person at the front desk.

It's time to go! I am finished in the library. I will visit again soon!
