4. Once you create your account, you'll have 72 hours of unlimited access. At the end of that time you'll need to start at Step 1 again to reactivate your session (visit mesacountylibraries.org, click on eResources, then New York Times).

The screenshot shows the 'Start Your Access' section of the NYTimes.com Pass activation page. At the top, it says 'The New York Times | NYTimes.com Pass'. Below that is the heading 'Start Your Access' followed by the text: 'Now that you have activated your pass, you can enjoy access to NYTimes.com and eligible apps from any location.' A red box highlights the expiration notice: 'Your Pass will expire on June 14th, 2020 at 6:11 PM ET'. Below this is a button labeled 'Set a Calendar Reminder to Renew'. A red callout box with the text 'Ignore this section' points to this button. Another red box highlights the text: 'After expiration, you can activate a new pass by visiting NYTimes.com/GroupPass while connected to the network of your participating organization.' At the bottom of this section is a blue 'Get Started' button.

5. Once you have created your account and activated your pass, you can enjoy access to NYTimes.com and eligible apps from any location using your preferred log in method from Step 3.
